Welcome to Aachen

Dear Media Representatives,

Our anticipation for TSCHIO Aachen 2026 is immense. From May 22 to 24, you can look forward to a tournament that presents itself in a more compact format and earlier in the calendar, while still offering everything that has made Aachen so distinctive for decades: the very highest level of sport and that special aura that can only be experienced here.

You read that correctly: "TSCHIO." The CHIO Aachen has long been more than an international equestrian tournament – it is a piece of home, a celebration of community, and a symbol of the unique atmosphere of our region. In Aachen and the surrounding area, the CHIO has always affectionately been called "TSCHIO" – in our warm, down-to-earth local dialect, as authentic as the event itself. With this name, the ALRV is making a conscious statement of regional pride, living tradition, and the close connection to the people who make the World Equestrian Festival something truly unique year after year.

From a sporting perspective, the tournament will of course once again be presented at the very highest level. An exceptional field of competitors guarantees world-class equestrian sport: the top 25 riders in the show jumping world rankings will compete together in Allianz Park – united by one goal: triumph in the Rolex Grand Prix. Excitement, emotion, and thrilling enthusiasm are therefore guaranteed. That is what defines TSCHIO Aachen, and that is exactly what will once again make the hearts of sports fans beat faster in 2026.

For you, dear journalists, these days will undoubtedly mean intensive work. At the same time, I sincerely hope that you will be able to take small moments for yourselves now and again to enjoy the unique atmosphere of this event. Sit in the press stand, take in the atmosphere, follow the emotions of the athletes, and let yourselves be carried away by the enthusiasm of the spectators. This naturally also applies to the supporting program: for the first time in its history, the celebrated concert "Horse & Symphony" will move into the legendary main stadium, elevating the experience to an entirely new level. On the evening of May 23, a symphonic spectacle will unfold unlike anything Aachen has ever experienced on this scale. Don't miss it.

And when it is time to return to work, we hope to have created the best possible conditions for you. Should you nevertheless find yourselves lacking anything, please let us know – we are here for you. Our goal is not only to provide the athletes and our visitors with an outstanding experience, but expressly to ensure that you, too, enjoy a thoroughly successful time at TSCHIO Aachen 2026.

A very warm welcome to TSCHIO Aachen 2026! We look forward to seeing you and to an unforgettable show.

Yours truly

Stefanie Peters
 President of the Aachen-Laurensberger Rennverein e.V. (ALRV)

Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping

The Ultimate Challenge

The Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping is unique in the world. Its concept: spectacular. Ultimate. Unrivalled. It brings together the Majors in 's-Hertogenbosch (NED), Aachen (GER), Calgary (CAN) and Geneva (SUI) in a competition for the most prestigious trophy in international equestrian sport. Four tournaments of the highest calibre, four epic arenas steeped in tradition, one great challenge – aimed at the world's best riders and horses. Whoever triumphs in three consecutive tournaments wins the Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping and, in addition to the prize money, one million euros. Scott Brash (GBR) has gone down in history as the first and, to date, only Grand Slam winner: he triumphed in Geneva in 2014 and in Aachen and Calgary in 2015. "Winning the Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping was an incredible moment in my career," the 40-year-old reflects. "The feelings and emotions I had when I held the trophy in my hands are almost impossible to put into words." What is a dream come true for Scott Brash serves as a major incentive for his world-class colleagues. For with his groundbreaking triumph, the Briton has proven to the world that victory in the Rolex Grand Slam is possible. But just how tough the battle for the crown of show jumping is, is something all those athletes who have since been trying to follow in the Briton's footsteps have had to learn the hard way. It is big names such as Henrik von Eckermann (SWE), Marcus Ehning (GER) and Daniel Deußner (GER), or the two Swiss riders Martin Fuchs and Steve Guerdat, who have gradually risen to join the select ranks of Major winners. But no one has yet managed to triumph three times in a row. Now, in 2026, the world's elite will gather once more in Aachen to take on this ultimate challenge. For the riders and their horses on this year's TSCHIO Aachen entry list, the focus is entirely on the here and now. For there are only 40 starting places up for grabs in the Rolex Grand Prix on the final Sunday – a day on which the Main Stadium, packed to the rafters, will witness sporting history being made. Who will be crowned Queen or King of Aachen's Soers? Who will fulfil their greatest dream this year and come a step closer to the most coveted trophy in international show jumping? On the 24th May in Aachen's legendary main stadium, the answer to this question will be revealed – full of excitement and emotion. Look forward to an unforgettable, thrilling leg of the Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping – at TSCHIO Aachen 2026!

Shows for Young Talents 2026 – Free Admission!

Aachen Youngstars 2026

For more than 30 years, the best young show-jumpers have been welcomed to the Aachen Soers at the end of the year. Here, they battle it out for the victories in the Grand Prix and to claim the title of Indoor Champion in four age groups.

In 2017, the organisers extended the show calendar for the young athletes to include a further spectacular weekend. In the scope of the "Aachen Dressage Youngstars" an international dressage show for young dressage riders has been initiated, which once again this year together with the "Aachen Jumping Youngstars" forms the "Aachen Youngstars".

The best German show-jumpers will kick off the event from November 26th - November 29th. The international dressage talents will then have the opportunity to demonstrate their skills one week later from December 3rd - 6th 2026.

| Besonderheiten 2026 | From the 22nd to 24th May, the TSCHIO Aachen will take place over a shorter period and slightly earlier in the calendar – but with the same high standard of competition and that unmistakable atmosphere that has defined the tournament in Aachen for decades. This is ensured by a field of competitors that is unrivalled in its calibre: the top 25 in the world show jumping rankings will all be heading to Allianz Park, united by a single goal – victory in the Rolex Grand Prix. When the stands are packed and the world's finest horse-and-rider pairs take to the legendary main stadium, sporting history is made time and time again. Winning in Aachen and seeing one's name immortalised on the famous winners' board at the edge of the arena – that is one of the greatest dreams any equestrian can have. To make this dream a reality, the riders must prove themselves at TSCHIO 2026 in one of the world's most prestigious competitions: the Rolex Grand Prix, traditionally held on Sunday afternoon. Who will be crowned Queen or King of the Soers? The spotlight is on Richard Vogel, the current contender for the Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping and, as the reigning European Champion, someone who is well-equipped to handle the pressure. A strong start to the tournament is crucial, as the show jumping competitions on Friday and Saturday afternoons serve as qualifiers for the grand final. The sporting programme is accompanied by further top-class competitions and exciting contests for young horses. But it's not just the world's best show jumpers who will be competing at TSCHIO Aachen; the elite of four-in-hand driving will also be making an appearance in May – at the MERKUR CASINO-Cup, which this year will be held late on Saturday afternoon as a combined show jumping and driving competition. A fantastic atmosphere is guaranteed at this very special 'Jump & Drive' event. Another highlight: for the first time in history, the celebrated "Horse & Symphony" concert is moving into the legendary main stadium – and taking the event to a whole new level. The result is a symphonic spectacle on a scale Aachen has never before experienced. Taking part: dressage queen Isabell Werth, rising star Moritz Treffinger, animal trainer Anne Krüger-DeGENER and, of course, the Aachen Symphony Orchestra. One thing is certain: even in its compact form, TSCHIO Aachen promises world-class sport. And it's just as true that TSCHIO Aachen is all about meeting friends, strolling around, seeing and being seen, shopping, enjoying yourself – and having a bit of a party. All of this will make for a perfect experience from the 22nd to 24th May 2026. |

Equestrian Sport in Germany

Source: German Equestrian Federation (FN), status on May 5th, 2025

People and Horses

- According to a study conducted by market research company IPSOS in 2019, around 11.2 million respondents stated that they were interested in horses and equestrian sports. However, only over 14-year-olds were surveyed. The study also determined the number of equestrian sports enthusiasts in Germany: 2.32 million people describe themselves as riders*, including 840,000 regularly active riders and 1.48 million occasional riders. 700,000 people would like to ride or get back into the sport.
- Furthermore, there are around 600,000 households in Germany that own horses as well as 920,000 households with a horse-sharing participation. According to projections, the number of horses privately-owned is around 1.25 million. Just under a third are kept privately, the majority (around 45 percent) are kept in livery stables. The remainder live on farms without a riding area or indoor arena.

* The term rider always includes riders, vaulters and all persons who are actively involved with the horse in any way, e.g. in the form of ground work.

- According to the IPSOS survey, regularly active riders are predominantly female (78 percent), on average 38 years old, well-educated and mostly work full-time or at least part-time. For most people, the close relationship to the horse and the closeness to nature are their reasons for riding. Most riders live in towns with less than 100,000 inhabitants. The smallest share lives in big cities. The net household income is in some cases significantly lies over the German average.

Organised Horse Sport in Germany

The following figures apply for the year 2023:

- The German Equestrian Federation (Fédération Equestre Nationale, FN), the national umbrella organisation for equestrian sport, is the world's largest equestrian sports association. Within the German Olympic Sports Confederation (DOSB), the FN ranks ninth with 663,145 members (previous year: 664,919).
- Equestrian sport is very popular with women. A total of 534,705 FN members are girls and women. With 128,432 boys and men, the male share is just under 20 per cent.
- The state association of Baden-Württemberg has the most club members with 97,102 (previous year: 97,094), followed by Westphalia with 95,175 (previous year: 95,95,890), Bavaria with 86,268 (previous year: 85,491), Hanover with 77,935 (previous year: 78,944), Hesse with 68,907 (previous year: 69,109) and Rhineland with 57,332 (57,199). If Westphalia and the Rhineland were added together, North Rhine-Westphalia would have 152,507 club members and Lower Saxony (Hanover, Bremen and Weser-Ems) 124,433.

Organisational Structure of the German Equestrian Federation (FN)

- The German Equestrian Federation (FN), as the umbrella organisation, is made up of 17 state equestrian associations with 7,198 riding and driving clubs (previous year: 7,278). The breeding sector includes 25 German breeding associations, 15 of which specialise in warmblood breeding.
- In addition, 3,347 equestrian businesses (previous year 3,389) and 57,163 (previous year 56,960)

personal members are directly affiliated to the FN (or its member associations).

- Other FN member associations include the German Olympic Committee for Equestrian Sports (DOKR), the German Riders' and Drivers' Association and the German Judges' Association for Horse Performance Tests. There are also nine affiliated organisations: First Western Riders' Union Germany, Iceland Horse, Rider and Breeder Association, German Endurance Riders' and Drivers' Association, German Board of Trustees for Therapeutic Riding, German Academic Riders' Association, International Gaited Horse Association, Federal Association for Classical-Baroque Riding Germany, German Stallion Owners' Association and the German Young Breeders' Association.

Competition Sport

- In 2023, 3,428 tournament events were held (previous year: 3,562) with 58,084 competitions (previous year: 59,054) and 1,104,836 starts (previous year: 1,111,842). The cash prizes totalled €30,434,64 in 2023 (previous year: €29,928,312). In comparison, in 2019, before the coronavirus pandemic, there were 3,567 tournaments with 66,281 competitions and around 1.34 million starts.
- In 2023, the FN issued 69,635 annual tournament licences entitling riders to participate in tournaments (previous year: 71,831), including 1,471 licences for foreign riders (previous year: 1,442) who took part in German tournaments. Before coronavirus, there were 80,342 annual tournament licences. In addition, 4,806 young people and adults found their way into competition sport via so-called trial licences (previous year: 5,230, 2019: 6,077).
- In 2023, the FN made 118,129 updates for competition horses and ponies (previous year: 120,453, 2019: 132,257) and 2,888 FEI passports for internationally competing competition horses (previous year: 2,929, 2019: 2,572). The number of horses and ponies newly entered in the show horse register totalled 22,272, compared to 22,654 horses and ponies in the previous year.
- The proportion of older horses in the sport has risen steadily in recent years. 11.34 per cent (previous year: 10.93%, 2019: 9.86%) are over 16 years old. However, the majority of all competition horses - 51.18 per cent (previous year: 50.38%) - are between five and ten years old, while 28.75 per cent (previous year: 29.35%) are between eleven and 15 years old. Compared to the previous year, the proportion of younger horses in the sport has fallen further: 8.73 per cent (previous year: 9.15%), but is still just above the proportion in 2019, when 8.08 per cent of show horses were three- and four-year-olds.

German Horse Breeding

- German riding horse and riding pony breeding plays a major role in the success of German equestrian sport.
- In 2023, 2,839 stallions (previous year: 2,973), 52,276 broodmares (previous year: 54,041) and 28,600 foals (previous year: 28,173) were registered in German riding horse breeding. The number of coverings fell from 30,654 in 2022 to a total of 26,808.
- In addition, a total of 3,700 pony and small horse stallions of all breeds (previous year: 3,815), 20,987 pony and small horse broodmares (previous year: 21,089) and 9,847 foals (previous year: 10,498) were registered with the associations in 2023.
- For all horse and pony breeds of the 25 breeding associations affiliated with the FN (from Achal Tekkiner to Warlander), the following numbers of breeding animals were reported in 2023: 7,829 stallions (previous year: 8,219), 81,457 broodmares (previous year: 83,855) and 42,082 foals (previous year: 40,320).

- In 2023, 373 young stallions competed in the stallion performance test for riding horses (2022: 459). Changes to the stallion performance test concept lead to a reduction by around half in the number of 75 stallions that tested in 14-day VA (short) performance tests in 2023, while the proven sport tests and 50-day performance tests continued to enjoy undiminished popularity. A total of 197 (2022: 116 participants) were counted in the sport tests and 101 (2022: 117 participants) in the 50-day station tests.
- 1,629 riding horse broodmares (previous year: 1,778) demonstrated their performance in station and field tests. A total of 2,372 broodmares (previous year: 2,563) demonstrated their performance in station and field tests.

Horses – The Economic Factor

- Over 10,000 companies, handicraft businesses and service companies in Germany are directly or indirectly dependent on the horse as their main line of business.
- The turnover of the German horse industry lies at an estimated 6.7 billion Euros. The area horse keeping accounts for 39 percent of the expenditure (2.6 bil. Euros), the area retail trade and services account for 61 percent (4.1 bil. Euros).
- At the riding horse auctions organised by the breeding associations in 2023, 672 riding horses were auctioned off at an average price of 27,205 euros (previous year: 756 riding horses, average price 28,735 euros). Furthermore, around 2,261 breeding horses, foals and ponies (previous year: 1,789 ponies and cold-blooded horses) were auctioned off at the breeding associations' auctions.

The City of Aachen

Aachen without horses? Unthinkable.

The horse belongs to Aachen like the port does to Hamburg, like the Brandenburger Tor does to Berlin. The foundation of the city goes back to a horse. In Aachen this can, of course, only have been the horse of Charlemagne. It is said that his horse once pawed the earth with his hoof and thereby discovered the famous hot Aachen springs during a hunting trip. This was the beginning of Aachen's career as Charlemagne's favourite palace and as a spa and bathing city.

The people in Aachen call such stories „Ameröllche“. When they talk about the famous annual horse show at the city's gates in the Soers, they say „Tschio“. If you pronounced the tournament's title correctly you would say „C - H - I - O“. The „Concours Hip-pique International Officiel“ is the world's most renowned equestrian event. Every year the world's best riders and drivers meet in the Soers to compete in front of an audience of more than 350,000 visitors. The show is famous for its extraordinarily fair and euphoric audience, the top level sport and its atmosphere which is similar to a folk festival.

The City of Aachen

But Aachen is associated with much more than only top international horse sport. Almost 150 equestrian companies, 22 indoor arenas, dozens of riding clubs and over 40 kilometres of riding tracks form a perfect infrastructure for riding as popular sport within the city's environs. So it is not a surprise that Aachen, situated in the border triangle with Belgium and the Netherlands, was awarded the title "Horse Friendly Community" in 2002. Aachen's high identification with the horse and equestrian sports can be found in many places in the city.

The famous horse sculpture of Bonifatius Stirnberg welcomes travellers at the main train station, and near the city theatre stands the Smiling Stallion of Gerhard Marcks. Located in the centre of Europe, the city of the International Charlemagne Prize is also a science centre of international reputation. Impressions of the horse, European and research city with its official Elite University can be seen online on www.aachen-emotion.com.

Essential Aachen Highlights

Aachen has a lot to offer, and if you only have limited time to spend, there are difficult choices to make in what to select. Therefore, we have composed seven Aachen sights that are an absolute must for the visitor. For any questions about the City of Aachen, please contact the aachen tourist service. Information under www.aachen-tourist.de or Tel. +49-241-180 29 60.

Aachen Cathedral and Treasury

The Aachen "Dom" (Cathedral), which has been given the status of a world cultural heritage site, is the former Palace Chapel of Charlemagne. Still today, this magnificent building fascinates visitors who gaze upwards to the 32 meters high dome and admire the Barbarossa chandelier (1180), the shrines of Charlemagne and Mary (13th century) as well as the legendary throne of Charlemagne. This is the historic site of the coronation of more than 30 German kings (from 936 to 1531). The gothic choir of the cathedral with its 27 meters high windows (1414) is a masterpiece of its time. The adjacent Treasury exhibits another 100 works of sacral art such as the famous bust of Charlemagne (approx. 1349). (www.aachendom.de)

City Hall

The City Hall, the first stop on the "Route Charlemagne", was built on the foundations of the former main hall of Charlemagne's palace. Today, it is a place of Europe's living past where you can view an interactive exhibition with the help of an "Aixplorer" audio-visual guide to get a first-hand feel for the history – past and present – of this building, the city and Europe as well. Opposite the city hall, in Haus Löwenstein, there is an exhibition on the planned "Route Charlemagne". (www.route-charlemagne.eu)

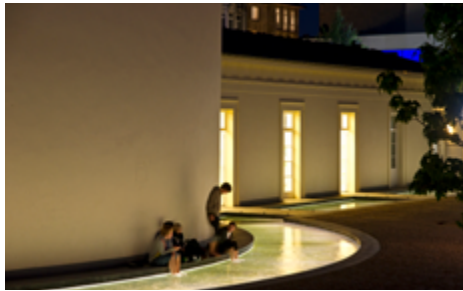

Historic Old Town

Aachen's Old Town has a lot of flair – atmospheric lanes and alleyways, numerous shops, pubs, cafés and restaurants invite visitors to stroll and window-shop. The people of Aachen and their guests enjoy the Mediterranean ambience of the city and its historic buildings and picturesque burgher houses. The spa city of Aachen is also the city of fountains and sculptures. Puppet Fountain, Chicken Thief, Fish Pond, Türelüre-Liðje or Karls Fountain – the wide variety of Aachen fountains on their own make a rewarding tour.

Elisenbrunnen / Elisenpark

As early as Roman times, the hot thermal springs (approx. 38-74°C) have made Aachen a well-known spa for rheumatic ailments. A representation of the former glamorous spa and bathing city is the Elisa Fountain with its magnificent colonnades that was built from 1822 to 1828 according to the plans of Karl Friedrich Schinkel. Take your time to study the marble plaques with the names of the celebrities of past centuries. The 2013 opened "Archaeological Showcase" offers views into 5.000 years of Aachen's

Couven-Museum

The Couven-Museum is also called "Aachen's most famous living room". Situated in a beautiful 17th century building right in the historic centre of Aachen, it shows the development of the style of living of the 18th and 19th century. The rooms display a harmonious ensemble of several middle class furniture styles from Rococo to the early Classicism of Louis-Seize, the Napoleonic empire style and Biedermeier. (www.couven-museum.de)

International Newspaper Museum

The International Newspaper Museum newly opened in 2011: the Newspaper Museum occupies an imposing 15th century house and is home to one of the 21st century's most up-to-the-minute international media presentations. It vividly conveys media literacy in a contemporary style, showing approximately 200,000 newspapers published over a period of 500 years. (www.izm.de)

Carolus Thermen Bad Aachen

"Sanus per Aquam" - healthy by water. This saying was valid in the olden days of the kings, and also today the visitors of the Carolus Thermen can experience this. With the most modern wellness comfort in the four worlds of relaxation "Thermal World", "Sauna World", "Indulgence World" and "Gourmet World", the bathing guest can enjoy the water's healing power on body and soul. Dive into the famous Aachen waters! (www.carolus-thermen.de)
